Why are diplomatic papers called circulating notes? Because they go round about a subject without coming to any definite end. They are, moreover, called circulating, because they are seldom on the square.

It is proposed to make a Backwater navigation from Athens to Birmingham, N. Y. and thus connect the New York canal with the western Coal and Iron region of Pennsylvania. The work it is said, can be done for about $200,000.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, of Brooklyn, contradicts the report that his congregation had presented him with $15,000 to purchase a summer residence, but says a few friends have enabled him to buy a farm of 96 acres, costing, with stock, implements, &c., $5,600.

A large number of new buildings are being erected in New Orleans, and the desolated city is now beginning to recover from the effects of the yellow fever.

Business of all kinds, according to the newspapers of the 27th ult., was resuming its wonted activity.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Some of the South Carolina papers are opposed to the election of Col. Orr to the Speakership of the House of Representatives of the next Congress, upon the ground that no one from that State should seek for Federal honors.

The sum of five thousand pounds was recently placed in the hands of the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, by Queen Victoria, for distribution among the Dublin charities.

A movement has been commenced by the Rev. J. A. James, of Birmingham, Mr. Thompson, and others, in England, to procure a million copies of the New Testament in Chinese, for distribution among the Insurgents. The cost will be $17,000. Mr. Thompson gives 1,000 and Mr. James 500 copies. A good notion say we.

The success of the atmospheric telegraph, for transmitting packages from one point to another, is said to be complete. A company is now being formed with a capital of $500,000 for constructing a line on that plan between Boston and New York, having a cylinder two feet in diameter, by means of which it is believed packages may be sent from one city to the other in fifteen minutes.

When this is accomplished the old lady may be able to recognise her Lord's hand writing.

Hon. Edward A. Hanagan, of Ind., it appears is determined to recover his past misfortunes by becoming an earnest temperance reformer. At a recent camp meeting he is said to have declared himself ready to vote for the Maine Law in the absence of better, but expressed his belief that nothing short of total extinction from the face of the earth would effect the object desired.

James Grant, well known in New York, as a popular barber, was chosen, in September last, to the office of County Recorder at the election in San Francisco. He ran on the democratic and mechanics' ticket, and was elected by over two thousand majority.

Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, of which Hon. Horace Mann is President, was dedicated on the 5th. The building, when completed, will accommodate 2000 students.

In a gambling-room at Cairo, Illinois, an old man named McGuire, quarrelled with a young man, and aimed an empty gun at him. The young man, to the amusement of the spectators, ran around the room crying murder, until he was cornered; when he drew his bowie-knife, and cut him badly. Such was the effect of fear on a coward.

It also says that Mr. Dallas will not accept the mission to China.

The Newark (N. J.) Mercury states that single women, who were freeholders, voted in that State, as late as the year 1800. In a newspaper of that date, is a complimentary editorial to the female voters, for unanimously supporting John Adams for President, against Mr. Jefferson.

A VALUABLE BRICK.—An ingot of gold, weighing 793 ounces, and valued at $16,255.75 was yesterday drawn from the U. S. Mint, by the agent of Harnden's Express, for the firm of Wells, Fargo & Co. It is the most valuable ingot of gold ever cast at that Mint. In shape and dimensions it resembled a brick, but the weight was enough to tire the strongest man.

California News Items.

By the arrival of the Steamers, we have news from California, up to the 16th ult. It is generally of an interesting character:

The returns of the election show the election of the entire democratic ticket for State officers, by small majorities.

The Legislature will be almost unanimously democratic, and Bigler, Extension will have a majority of the whole, and the measure will become a law in its worst form, without one-third reservation clause of the original bill, and giving the entire property, worth at least $10,000,000, without one dollar of compensation to the State, to the parties who hold it under the fraudulent Peter Smith sales.

The popular vote will this year reach 80,000, it is said. The city of San Francisco polls 10,113 votes, being an increase of 2127 votes, since the Presidential election, when it stood 7986. The vote in the rural districts of the county has risen in the same from 430 to 828. The vote in the city of Sacramento reaches 5338 now, against 4963 at the Presidential election. Marysville polls 1807 votes, Stockton 1472, and Nevada city 1098.

Intelligence of an interesting character has been received from Sonora, Mexico, announcing the discovery of mines of extraordinary richness. In consequence a decided spirit of filibustering has been revived in this State and several gentlemen are engaged in the preliminary arrangements for organizing an expedition.

The intelligence from the Sandwich Islands is an important character, and gives indication of an early change of sovereignty. A number of American and other foreign residents are striving, ostensibly, to procure the dismissal of two members of the King's cabinet, but their object is the subversion of the government, and the transfer of the Islands to the United States. These movements, however, are injurious to the cause of annexation, which in the mean time is progressing under different and higher auspices.

Our mining interest's continue in a prosperous condition, and under the operation of improved machinery, and by the application of science to the working of the mines, must continue to progress for years to come.

THE RUSSIAN AND TURKISH GENERAL.—In a long article upon "The Russian War in Turkey," in the New York Tribune of the 18th inst., furnishes the following interesting information concerning the Commander-in-Chief of the opposing forces. It says:

The generals, on both sides, are comparatively new men. The military merits of Prince Gorchakoff, the Russian Commander, and the reason why the Emperor appointed him to that post, we have already had occasion to state to our readers. An honest man, and a zealous partisan of Russia's "manifest destiny," yet remains to be seen whether he can conduct a campaign of such magnitude as that now opening. Omar Pasha, the Turkish Generalissimo, is better known, and what we know of him is generally favorable. His expedition against Kurdistan and Montenegro, was the first successful under difficult circumstances; the second, exceedingly well planned, and certain of almost bloodless success, but for the interference of diplomacy. The chief superiority, then, which can be found on the side of the Turks is, perhaps, that of generalship in most other respects the Russians have the advantage.

In reference to the available force of the two Governments, the Tribune says:

"From all the information at our command, the Turkish army opposed to the Russians on the Danube, may be estimated at the very outside, at 110,000 to 120,000 men. Before the arrival of the Egyptian contingent, it was generally asserted not to exceed 90,000 men. So far as we can judge there is an evident inferiority of numbers on the part of the Turks. And as to the intrinsic value and quality of either army, an equal superiority on the part of the Russians must be admitted."

It is true the Turkish artillery, formed under the direction of excellent French and Prussian officers, enjoys a high reputation, while the Russian gunners are notorious poor marksmen, but in spite of all recent improvements, the Turkish infantry cannot be compared to Russian grenadiers, and their horsemen still lack that discipline and steadiness in battle which will allow of a second and third charge after the first has been repulsed.

A Woman at the Bar.—The Cleveland Plaindealer says that Mrs. Emma R. Coe has been pursuing a course of legal studies for the purpose of qualifying herself for the practice of that profession. What jury could withstand the eloquence of such a special pleader?

Several persons have been arrested at Elizabethtown, N. J., who had banded together for the purposes of burglary, theft and arson.

Gov. Seymour, of Connecticut, resigned his office on Thursday last, and will sail shortly to assume his duties as Minister to St. Petersburg.

George Law will make a fine speculation on those muskels he purchased of the United States. He has sold them to the Sultan, at an immense price, of course.

Judge Grier, of the U. S. District Court, delivered his opinion in Philadelphia, on Saturday, on the slave case, discharging the two Marshalls arrested for committing an assault and battery on Bill Thomas, a fugitive slave.

Lucy Stone and Lydia Jenkins lectured for the second time, in Cincinnati, on Saturday night, to a crowded house. The papers speak of Lydia's address as logical. We suppose Lydia Jenkins is a new candidate for notoriety.

ARRIVAL OF THE ASIA.

RELEASE OF KOSZTA, FURTHER FROM TURKEY.

Three Days Later.

By the arrival of the Asia we have Liverpool dates the 6th inst.

Saturday, Oct. 8.—Nothing definite by mail this morning. The Times letter writer says, from Paris, that the English and French governments had notified Russia in strong notes that it is now too late to issue more modifications, and that England and France will support the integrity of Turkey. This is probable, but wants confirmation.

Commander Ingfield has returned from the Arctic regions: there is no intelligence of Sir John Franklin. Commander McClure had sailed through from Behring's Strait to Davis' Straits.

Martin Koszta embarked from Smyrna on the 23d ult., for the United States. According to the best accounts, which are yet imperfect, the Sultan has not signed the Declaration of War, but the Council has voted that war against Russia be declared, leaving to the discretion of the executive, when to proclaim hostilities.

Many rumors were prevalent, all of which were doubtful, however, that Gen. Corbott will go with 10,000 troops to Constantinople, and that the French and English will occupy the ports of the Bosphorus; that the combined fleets will reach Constantinople on the 17th inst.

It is authentically stated that the Czar and Olinitz declared his strong wish for peace to enable him to back out of the difficulty, but nothing is really known with certainty.

Mr. Soule arrived at Madrid on the 29th ult.

A Paris correspondent of the London Times, of Friday evening, says that a dispatch had been received from Vienna, which states that the Sultan has fixed four weeks within which Russia shall evacuate the principalities.

We were a good deal amused the other day at a circumstance which occurred in one of the cars on the New York and Erie and Railroad. It was witnessed by a friend whom no "good" thing ever escapes, and who thus describes it:

On a seat two or three "removes" from me, sat a smart, Yankee looking woman, with a dashing new silk gown and a new bonnet, set jauntily upon her head; and beside her, looking out of the window, and every now and then thrusting out his head, sat a man of somewhat air and manner.

The woman watched him with every appearance of interest, and at last said to him:

"Do you see that hand-bill there, telling you not to put your arms or head out of the car windows?"

The man made no reply, save to fix upon the speaker a pair of pale, watery blue eyes; and presently out went his head again, and half his body, from the car window.

"Do you understand English?" asked the woman.

"Yaw," was the reply.

"Then why don't you keep your head out of the window?"

There was no reply, of any kind, to this appeal.

At length he put his head out a third time, just as the car was passing a wooden bridge.

The lady started back, and once more exclaimed:

"Do you understand English?"

"Yaw, yaw!"

"Then why don't you keep your head out of the window?"

"Want't to get killed?"

No response. And a fourth time he narrowly escaped collision with some passing object.

The woman could "stand it" no longer. "Why don't you keep your head out of the window? The next thing you know, your head will be smashed into a jelly, and your brains will be all over my dress—that is if you've got any—and I don't much believe you have!"

We had mistaken the object of the good woman's solicitude; which at first seemed to be a tender regard for the safety of her fellow passenger; but as the truth "leaked out," coupled with so very equitable a compliment to his intelligence, a laugh was heard in the car that drowned the roaring of the wheels.

UNION OF THE BRITISH PROVINCES. Within a few days, the Canadian government journals have announced that the project of uniting all the provinces, with Quebec, as the federal capital, will soon take place. Each province is to be allowed a separate Legislature. Lord Elgin is said to have gone to England, for the express purpose of arranging the important matter. The British provinces now contain three millions of inhabitants.

Dr. Cox, of Brooklyn, has published a card, in which he states, on the authority of letters received from Jenny Lind Goldschmidt, that the stories that she and her husband did not live happily together, are totally unfounded. So far from such being the case, the reverse of the rumors, he says, is true to the letter.
